Overview of Dublin

- Ireland's capital city is a charming blend of historical attractions and modern amenities, nestled between mountains and sea.
- Dublin is a historical and contemporary centre for education, the arts, administration and industry. As of 2018 the city was listed by the Globalization and World Cities Research Network (GaWC) as a global city, with a ranking of "Alpha -", which places it amongst the top thirty cities in the world.
- A world class destination for meetings, incentives, conferences and events (MICE), Dublin is ready for business.
- The language spoken in Dublin is English. Street signs and official buildings are signposted in both English and Gaelic, the indigenous Irish language. Despite this, you are highly unlikely to hear any Gaelic spoken on your travels across town.
- Best time to visit:- April, May & October
- The currency in use in Ireland is the Euro.

Places to visit in Ireland

The Cliffs of Moher

- Vertigo-inducing and awe-inspiring spring to mind and they are indeed both of these things as well as being utterly wild and ruggedly beautiful.
- This is Ireland's most visited natural attraction and with good reason.
- About one and a half hours by car from Galway, in neighbouring County Clare, the cliffs are visited by close to a million people from across the globe each year.
- They stretch for eight kilometres along the Atlantic and rise some 214 meters at their highest point.

Places to visit in Ireland

Killarney National Park and Muckross House & Gardens

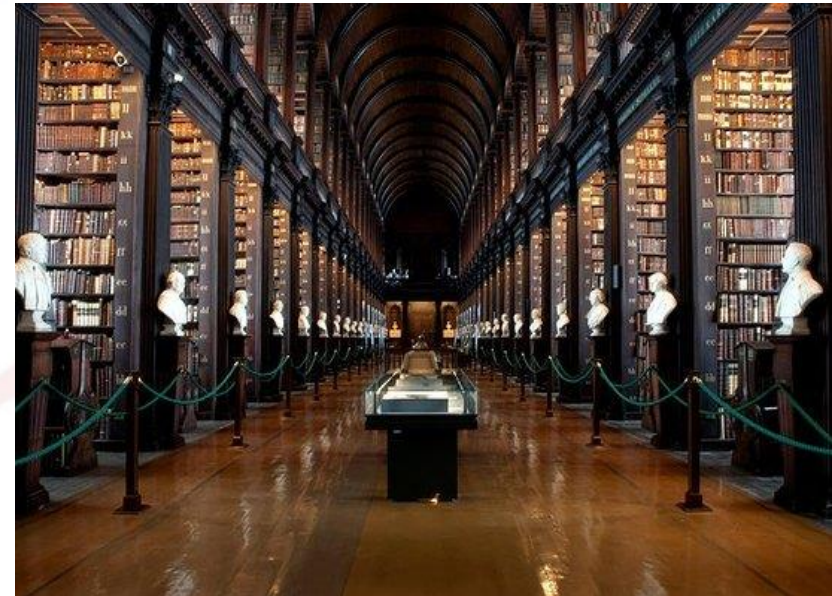

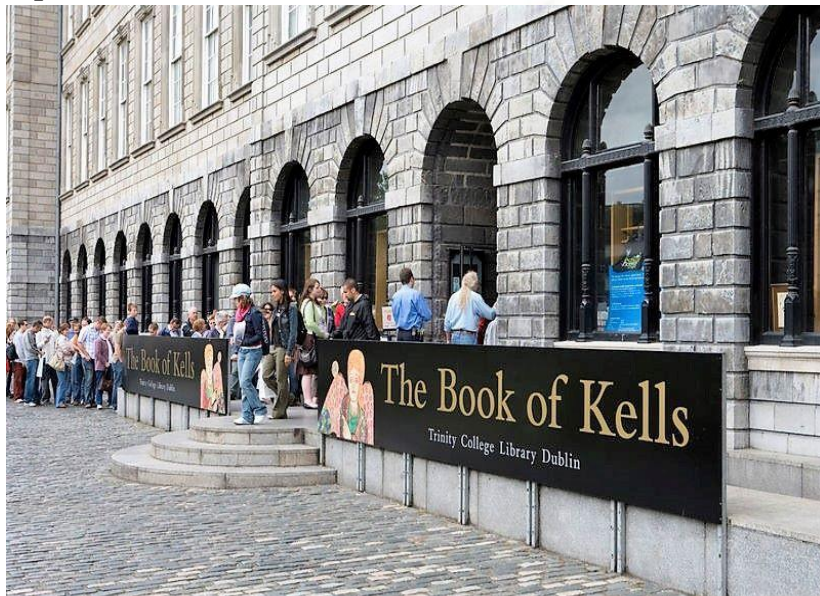

- 19th-century Muckross House and Gardens, set in spectacular Killarney National Park, should be top of the must-see list.
- Standing close to the shores of Muckross Lake, one of Killarney's three lakes that are famed worldwide for their splendour and beauty, this former mansion oozes the grandeur and gentility of bygone days.
- The house and gardens are a real treat and there are Jaunting Cars (Killarney's famous horse & traps) to take you around the grounds in style.
- The Killarney National Park & Lakes region is filled with beautiful scenery, and any route through it will reveal view after view of its lakes and mountains.

Places to visit in Ireland

The Book of Kells and Trinity College, Dublin

- Ireland's oldest university, Trinity College in Dublin is one of the country's ancient treasures.
- Founded in 1592 by Queen Elizabeth I, Trinity is a world within a world, once you enter the gates and cross the cobblestones, it's as if the modern, thriving city outside simply melts away.
- The college is famed for its priceless treasures including the awe-inspiring Book of Kells (on permanent exhibition) and the mind-boggling Long Room (the inspiration for the library in the first Harry Potter movie).
- A stroll in and around the grounds is a journey through the ages and into the hushed world of scholarly pursuit.

Places to visit in Ireland

Guinness Storehouse

- To many Dublin is the heart and soul of Ireland, and Guinness is at the heart of the city itself.
- Located at the heart of St. James's Gate Brewery, the seven floors are designed around a central glass atrium mirroring the shape of a pint of Guinness.
- Floor by floor, visitors take a surprising journey through the past, present and future of the world's greatest beer.
- They discover the ingredients, the process, the time, the craft and the passion that goes into every pint.
- The Brewery Bar is set in stylish surroundings with magnificent views of Dublin and the Storehouse building itself.

Places to visit in Ireland

Boyne Valley

- The Boyne Valley is the birthplace of Ireland's Ancient East and has some of the world's most mythical landscapes.
- The rich valley is home to a range of heritage sites including the UNESCO World Heritage Site at Brú na Bóinne (Newgrange and Knowth) as well as Ireland's largest Anglo-Norman castle at Trim.
- Deep in the Royal County, Trim Castle is an example of what a castle should look like. Mel Gibson and the makers of the film "Braveheart" certainly thought so because they chose it as the location for some of the gorier scenes of that film.

Places to visit in Ireland

Glendalough and Wicklow

- Magical and mysterious, Glendalough is home to one of the most important monastic sites in Ireland.
- Known as the Garden of Ireland, County Wicklow is one of Ireland's true scenic treasures with its magnificent hills and mountains, long sandy beaches, rivers and lakes.
- Glendalough, a glacial valley renowned for its early medieval monastic settlement founded in the 6th Century by St Kevin, a hermit priest, and partly destroyed in 1398 by English troops.
- The monastic site with its incredibly preserved round tower is a joy to explore, and the surrounding woodlands and lakes are perfect for rambling through at your leisure or stopping off for a picnic.

Places to visit in Ireland

Kilmainham Gaol Museum

- Kilmainham Gaol is a former prison, now operating as a museum. It opened in 1796 as the new County Gaol for Dublin and closed its doors in 1924.
- Today the building symbolises the tradition of militant and constitutional nationalism from the rebellion of 1798 to the Irish Civil War of 1922-23.
- Many Irish revolutionaries, including the leaders of the 1916 Easter Rising, were imprisoned and executed in the prison by the British.

Places to visit in Ireland

Sea Safari in Dublin

- Sea Safari will bring you on an exciting, fun filled sea tour of the Dublin Bay area while also showing you spectacular sights and attractions.
- The trip leaves Dun Laoghaire Harbour, turning right heading south along the east coast, passing Sandy cove and the James Joyce Martello tower, then continuing on passed Bulloch Harbour, into Dalkey Sound passing the Island and entering Killiney Bay which is over looked by a number of celebrity homes such as Bono and Enya. At this stage group would turn around and head back towards Dun Laoghaire.

Places to visit in Ireland

Malahide Castle

- Malahide Castle, parts of which date to the 12th century, lies, with over 260 acres of remaining estate parkland, close to the village of Malahide, nine miles north of central Dublin in Ireland.
- The tour includes a guided tour of Malahide Castle, one of the most stunning and perfectly preserved medieval castles in Ireland. Dating from the 12th century, you'll learn about the adventures of the Talbot family who lived there for generations. Visit the extensive castle grounds and Avoca Café and clothing shop located adjacent to the castle.
- Price : Adult €25
Additional Child €12 (2 kids under 14 go free with each paying adult)
- Tours Depart at 11:00 and return at 16:00

Places to visit in Ireland

Greyhound Race + Dinner

- Greyhound racing is a popular sport in Ireland. There are 18 stadiums operating in Ireland (two in Northern Ireland) of which ten are operated by the Bord na gCon (Irish Greyhound Board or IGB) with the remaining six owned and operated by private enterprise but licensed by the Bord na gCon.
- Experience a great night out. The Variety is the spice of life and we are all looking for something different. So for a great night out with a difference why not try a night at the dogs and we guarantee you won't be disappointed.
- The atmosphere, the food, the flutter, the craic and of course the top class racing. They all combine to make you want to come back again and again and again.
